INTELLIGENCE ADVISORY COMMITTEE
COMMITTEE ON DOCUMENTATION

Information Processing

The IAC dissolved its Ad Hoc Subcommittee on Information Processing (AHIP) and replaced it with a permanent Committee on Documentation to promote the integration of information services throughout the community with special emphasis on the compatibility of developed systems. This action reflected growing recognition of the inadequacies of present methods for subject control, storage, and retrieval of information in support of intelligence programs. The Committee examined many projects for the mechanization of parts of the information processing cycle. It sponsored measures to improve the logistics of research including an IAC agreement to authorize reproduction of most categories of intelligence publications by any IAC library on behalf of any fully accredited IAC staff member. It contributed to the development of policy and of channels for the dissemination of unclassified IAC translations to non-intelligence governmental research programs as well as to non-governmental requestors.
